Headline:
Showers and sunny spells for today. Dry overnight.

Today:
A divide in the weather, with the north of the region seeing sunny skies for most and in the south scattered showers, occasionally heavy and thundery. Showers gradually clear during the afternoon, with more sunny spells to follow. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
A fine end to the day for most, with plenty of clear spells. Low cloud and fog patches may form in prone areas during the early hours. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Thursday:
A murky start in places, but soon brightening up, with sunny spells for most areas. The odd shower remains possible throughout the day. Feeling cooler than recently. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Another day of scattered showers and sunny spells on Friday. Further showers during the weekend, more frequent and potentially heavy and thundery. Temperatures near normal.
